Meet Hannah

A DREAM IN PROGRESS

> With the support of Fairplay and my family—especially my mom—I became the person I am today.

At just 19 years old, Hannah has already come full circle in her Fairplay journey. A recent Senior High School graduate from Metro Manila College, she has been with Fairplay since its earliest days—as one of our very first Fairplay Scholars and Payatas FC players.

Over the years, Hannah has grown from a young participant into a role model within the community. An active member of the Youth Center, she became a Youth Leader while in Grade 11, mentoring younger scholars and giving back to the program that helped shape her.

Like many young people growing up in challenging circumstances, Hannah's educational journey was not without setbacks. At one point, she had to pause her studies due to difficult family circumstances. Yet she refused to let those challenges define her. With determination and perseverance, she returned to school, completed Senior High School, and continues to pursue her dreams with remarkable resilience.

This year, Hannah is taking a gap year to prepare for college entrance examinations. She hopes to earn a place at a state university and study Social Work—a career inspired by her desire to support children and families facing challenges similar to her own.

While preparing for this next chapter, Hannah is serving as a Youth Leader and Tutor at Fairplay's Youth Center through our internship program, helping younger scholars with their studies and encouraging them to believe in their own potential.

Hannah's story is a powerful reminder that lasting change doesn't happen overnight. When children are surrounded by consistent support, positive role models, and opportunities to grow, they don't just overcome obstacles—they become the next generation of leaders who uplift others.

> When I was younger, I didn't think I was strong enough. Through Fairplay, I learned to become stronger.
